Pacific Fleet Believed Ready to Strike At Japan

Major Attack Looms

Terse Navy Note
Hints Action
Impending

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—The Navy announced today that U. S. submarines have sunk an enemy transport and a supply vessel in the Far East. The announcement came as the War Department issued a communique stating that the Japanese are pouring very heavy tank, cavalry and infantry reinforcements into the Philippines and that "losses have been very heavy on both sides."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—While Japan's greatly reinforced forces slashed anew today at General Douglas MacArthur's Philippine Island defenders, qualified military and naval observers here believe America's sea forces will strike a telling blow soon to preserve the nation's interests in the Far East, particularly the Philippines.

Their conclusion was based on a terse announcement from the Navy Department.

"The United States Navy is following an intensive and well-planned campaign against the Japanese forces which will result in a positive assistance to the defense of the Philippine Islands," the Navy said.

Prelude to the brief proclamation was a charge that Nippon's government is circulating rumors for "the obvious purpose of persuading the United States to disclose the location and intentions of the American Pacific fleet."

It also is obvious, the Navy asserted, that "these rumors," the contents of which were not given, "are intended for and directed at the Philippine Islands."

The populace of the Philippines "may rest assured," the Navy continued, "that while the United States Navy will not be tricked into disclosing vital information, the fleet is not idle." Then followed the prediction that "positive assistance" will be given in defense of the embattled islands.

The Navy's announcement was issued shortly after President Roosevelt spoke by short wave radio to the people of the Philippines. The President pledged (Continued on Page Two)

AUTOIST HURT IN MISHAP IN VICINITY OF ASH CAVE

Sam Kirkendall, 56, whose home is near Dayton, was riding along the highway near Ash Cave in the Hocking County area Sunday afternoon. That was the last thing he remembered for some time.

Whether he went to sleep, or just what happened, he doesn't know, but Monday he was a patient in Berger Hospital. He was being treated for six cracked ribs suffered when his car went off the road and overturned in a ditch.

Kirkendall was alone, and persons who found him in his car believe that he must have fallen asleep.

Raid Off Norway Coast Nets Eight German Ships For British Attackers

LONDON, Dec. 29—In a series of lightning raids which demonstrated the striking power of Britain's mysterious Commando troops, the British Navy, Army and Air Force Saturday wrecked one of Germany's main military bases in Norway, it was announced today.

A joint communique describing the heavy British offensive operations on and near the island of Vaagso off the western Norwegian coast disclosed these achievements:

- 1—Eight enemy ships totalling 15,650 tons sunk.
 - 2—Coast defense guns silenced and barracks machine-gunned.
 - 3—One entire garrison killed or taken prisoner.
 - 4—Military storehouses and ammunition dumps blown up.
 - 5—An airport heavily bombed.
 - 6—Nine "Quislings" captured with 95 naval and military prisoners.
- The British raiders fought on land as well as on sea, sending a landing party ashore while warships and British bombing planes silenced coast defense batteries manned by units of the German army of occupation.

A joint communique issued by the admiralty, war office and air ministry detailed success of the operation as follows:

"Eight enemy ships with a combined 15,650-tonnage were sunk or destroyed in the Vaagso raid. The following details have been received of the combined operations at headquarters in amplification of yesterday's communique. "A small raid was carried out December 27 directed mainly against enemy shipping anchored off Vaagso Island, latitude 62 degrees north, off the Norwegian coast.

"Light forces of the home fleet arrived off Vaagso just before daylight at 8:30 a. m., under cover of a smokescreen laid by Hampden aircraft.

"Military forces consisting of Commandos and some Norwegian troops landed ten minutes later in a naval assault by landing craft. Batteries Silenced

"Coast defense batteries manned by Germans opened fire on our ships but were silenced by bombs. Their freedom will be redeemed and their independence established and protected."

POLICE HUNTING TWO FUGITIVES FROM OHIO JAIL

TOLEDO, Dec. 29—Four prisoners escaped from the Lucas County jail today by sawing their way through bars of a four-man cell and an outer corridor window. A few hours later two of the men were apprehended in Dundee, Mich., and returned to the Toledo jail by sheriff's deputies.

Sheriff Charles L. Hennessey said he was holding an 18-year-old girl on suspicion that she smuggled the saws to the men while visiting one of them.

The men are Henry Bloszack, 24, and Leo Glivinski, 23, both of Detroit; Peter Carter, 23, of San Pedro, Cal., and Herbert Eckhart of Rossford, O.

Bloszack and Glivinski, arrested several days ago on charges of stealing an automobile and turned over to jail authorities by the U. S. marshal, were captured without a struggle in Dundee by Village Marshal L. T. Harris. They were not armed.

Sheriff Hennessey said Glivinski attempted to commit suicide last week by slashing his wrists. Carter, charged with violation of the Dyer Stolen Car Act, and Eckhart, facing robbery charges, were still at large. Hennessey said Bloszack and Glivinski told him they got to Dundee, about 24 (Continued on Page Two)

WAR TO HALT MEMORIAL DAY SPEEDWAY CONTEST

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—Suspension of the annual 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway classic for the duration of the war was announced today by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of the association that sponsored the event. Similar action was taken during the first World War days of 1917-18. Rickenbacker stated: "Tradition and priorities demand that we again voluntarily suspend the announcement of the 500-mile motor race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in the interest of a all-out victory effort."

STREET LIGHTS TO REMAIN OFF

Monday Night, Others To Be Dark; City Saves $374 Monthly

Circleville's uptown Christmas decorations were being dismantled Monday, and the city was preparing for the first night of its forced blackout.

Nearly every person in the city who has business on the streets after dark has armed himself with a flashlight or a lantern. Some are reported to have purchased more than one flashlight and a supply of batteries to last all winter.

City Council has requested persons in the residential sections of the city to keep their porch or yard lights on and city police have warned property owners to keep their doors and windows locked at night.

Action to suspend street lighting was taken by Council to cut a $374 a month light bill from city expenditures.

TOLL OF DEATHS IN OHIO SEVEN, SURVEY SHOWS

By International News Service
At least seven persons were killed in Ohio traffic accidents over the week end, a survey showed today.

Francis Boswell, 32, of Copley, near Akron, was killed when struck by an auto as he walked on Route 18 near his home.

A head-on crash in Route 52 two miles west of Portsmouth killed David McKenzie, 22.

Fifteen-year-old Norma Jean Long was killed at Washington C. H. when the auto in which she was riding struck a parked truck.

Lima's eighth traffic victim of the year, as against four each in 1939 and 1940, was Rudolph Giesler, 75, B. & O. Railroad crossing watchman, who was killed in a freak accident. He was struck by an auto and thrown into a freight engine's path.

Mrs. Rita Clotti, 45, of Salem, died of injuries suffered when she was struck by an automobile as she stood on the highway helping to get another car out of the ditch.

When an automobile plowed into a group of persons at the scene of an accident in Cleveland, Angelina Takacs, 23, and George Zborovsky, 22, were injured fatally.

Fuehrer's Afraid Of Uncle Sam

Writer Says Chancellor Fears He Has Gone Past Crest

By Pierre J. Huss, International News Service Staff Correspondent Copyright 1941
NEW YORK, Dec. 29—Hitler is afraid.

He is afraid of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

He is afraid of the might and power of the United States.

He is afraid—perhaps most of all—that the crest of his wave has passed, that he may be visiting on Germany and the world the unparalleled catastrophe that he long ago promised would be the only alternative to a Nazi victory.

But he does not say so. I saw him a few weeks ago and talked to him at length. It was (Continued on Page Two)

Corregidor Hit; Dutch Bombers Wreck 12 Ships

Manila Bay Quarters Of U. S. Fleet Raided Two Hours; Heavy Fighting Prevails In Varied Luzon Areas

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—Unconfirmed reports in Manila state that Japanese troops in the Pangasinan sector of the Philippines are in full retreat, with four out of six occupied towns already recaptured by American forces, Bert Silen, NBC correspondent, radioed to New York today.

MANILA, Dec. 29—German officers are leading Japanese troops in northern Luzon, a war correspondent for the Manila Herald reported today.

MANILA, Dec. 29—Japanese war planes for the first time raided the great United States naval base at Corregidor in Manila Bay today.

They are believed to have lost heavily in their first concentrated attack on the huge naval establishment.

A brief communique issued by the United States armed forces of the Far East coincident with a report that Dutch planes had sunk 12 Japanese transports attempting to land reinforcements at Davao on the island of Mindanao said:

"Corregidor was raided by Japanese planes for two hours today. A number of them were shot down.

"There is no material change on either the northern or southern fronts."

(Editor's Note: Corregidor, which means "ruler" in Spanish, is an island three miles long at the narrow neck of Manila Bay, a little less than 30 miles southwest of the capital. The island is honey-combed with underground defenses built into the rock and its guns are hidden under tropical vegetation. Nearby are other fortified islands—Fort Mills, Fort Hughes, Fort Drum and Fort Frank.)

The report of the Japanese sinkings was flashed to Manila by a correspondent of the Philippines Herald.

The report was not immediately confirmed by any other source.

The correspondent sent out his report from Cotabato, capital of Cotabato province on the west coast of Mindanao Island facing the Gulf of Moro. Cotabato is about 100 miles west of Davao, where the Japanese effected landings last week.

Mindanao is the southernmost of the larger Philippine islands.

At the same time another Herald correspondent, Porfirio Sison, said that United States troops who drove the enemy out of Tayog now are in pursuit of the Japanese, with the latter in "full retreat."

Sison also reported that on the Northern Front United States coast artillery defenses along Lingayen Gulf still are intact.

Survivors of the fighting at Darnalis on this same Northern Front were reported to have stated that the Jap tank regiments were led by German officers.

The Japanese were charged with using native civilians as a "protective cover for their advances."

MAJOR HAYS ORDERED TO CAMP SHELBY JOB

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—The War Department today ordered Major Harold L. O. Hays, former superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster to duty with the 37th division at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Major Hays has been chief inspector and executive officer at State Selective Service headquarters in Columbus. He was called to active duty, soon after the Selective Service Act went into effect. Prior to his service at Lancaster through all of 1939 he was head of the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home at Xenia for 10 years.

The War Department also ordered First Lieut. E. L. Henry, assistant U. S. disbursing officer in Columbus, to report for duty at the quartermaster-general's headquarters in Washington.

JAP DIPLOMATS ARE TAKEN TO VIRGINIA TOWN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—Japan's diplomatic staff in Washington, including Ambassadors Kichisaburo Nomura and Saburo Kurosu, the two envoys who talked peace while their country made a treacherous attack on the United States, left the capital today under a heavy escort of government agents.

It was assumed that they are being taken to Hot Springs, Va.

WARNING AGAINST AXIS ACTS VOICED IN WEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29—A warning to radio listeners to be on the alert against axis propaganda fed into the regular broadcast wavelengths—a familiar technique in the European war—was sounded today by the Twelfth Naval District.

The warning followed reports from naval intelligence in Manila that a powerful Japanese station had broken in on American broadcasts to the Far East with false reports that San Francisco was being bombed by Jap planes—in an apparent attempt to shatter civilian morale in bomb-torn Manila.

It came while hundreds of Japanese, German and Italian nations in seven western states were surrendering short-wave radio equipment and cameras for the duration of the war, on orders from the attorney general. The orders followed Army reports that unauthorized short-wave messages were being sent and received on the Pacific Coast.

not until the interview had long proceeded past the stage of bombast and boasting that I was able to sense the fear that is nibbling on his strange, mystic conscience, keeping him awake at night.

But as a shield to these innermost feelings he shouted:

"I will outlast your President Roosevelt; I will also outlast this crazy man Churchill. I can afford to wait and take my time to win this war my own way."

Beneath that close-lipped little mustache the pursed lips of this man Hitler parted for just the fraction of a second, reflecting a pin-point of Russian sun in that upper gold tooth of his. His eyes of watery blue looked at me with a vacant expression, lost in thoughts far away from that spot known to the world as the Fuehrer headquarters. He stood there amidst the park-like scene, hands folded behind his back and the great coat of rubberized field-grey nearly touching his boots.

I stood on the beaten path of hard sand already slightly edged with snow and waited. Der Fuehrer was doing the talking; I knew from previous experience this was no time to interrupt him.

"I am Fuehrer of a Reich that will last for a thousand years to come," he said suddenly, as if coming out of a distant mental space. His hands sprang into gesticulate action and his suede grey glove slapped the empty palm of his ungloved hand.

"No power on earth can shake the German Reich now. Divine Providence has willed it that I carry through the fulfillment of a Germanic task."

F. D. "Passing Phase"

"Roosevelt and Churchill are passing phases of a world in upheaval and a social revolution. They do not seem to know it yet. I do. They are sitting over there in their plutocratic little world, surrounded and enslaved by everything proved obsolete in the last decade. The money-bags and Jews run the show behind the scenes; a parliamentary circus tramples on what is left in rights and privileges of their people. I have my people behind me, and they have faith in me, their Fuehrer."

"But can Churchill say anything like that with any degree of certainty? For the time being he has whipped England into a state of obedience and what you people over there would call popularity. He is using this as political capital and eating off it like the man on pension."

"Some day, when the time comes and my armies strike more bitter blows against the vulnerable spots of the British Empire, then Mr. Churchill will suddenly find himself a man without political capital."

"History has shown that a British prime minister's life in office is of pretty short duration. Three and four years is a long time for a man in 10 Downing Street. The fortunes of war make it even harder, for not even Churchill can hold at bay indefinitely criticism and opposition in face of constant military blunders and reverses. I have seen three changes in 10 Downing Street precede Herr Churchill's premier since I came to power. There will be more before this war is over."

Hitler stamped nervously with the polished right boot, a familiar habit of his and hard on the carpets. Back in the Cafe Louvre in Vienna before the Anschluss and Gestapo put an end to this fascinating hot-bed of rumor, gossip and international journalism over the coffee cups, they had nicknamed him "Teppichfresser" because of that little habit of stamping or boot-pawing the carpet in nervous or thoughtful moments. Literally translated it meant chewing the carpet, and the term went easily around the world.

Erratic Walker

We walked in loose stride toward the little lake amidst the birch and pine woods, scarcely aware of the birds still chirping in the wintry sun. It isn't always easy to walk with Hitler; it is an unwritten rule that you keep in step no matter how the pace. Hitler is an erratic walker, falling at one moment into a slow lope caused probably by the twinge of rheumatism periodically bothering his right leg; the next moment on the urge of a sudden torrent of speech he changes to light and almost dainty quick-step, turning slightly sideways to talk while snapping the palm of the left hand with his glove. Curiously enough, he never looks back over his shoulder.

I stepped along with him, keeping just a fraction of a pace behind. Some eight years before, when I had first met and interviewed the Nazi Fuehrer high up in his Bavarian Alpine chalet in Berchtesgaden I had learned from brief instructions preceding the confab to keep my hands in plain sight. Even here in the open woods it would be a faux-pas to put your hands in your pocket in company of the Fuehrer. He might get nervous, and if not his lynx-eyed body guard and uniformed shadows would definitely dislike your attitude. Even his field marshals and generals scarcely do otherwise and by common consent they leave their service sidearms behind when around the Fuehrer.

We came to a turn in the path leading back to Fuehrer headquarters. On the sun bench alongside the lake's edge a squirrel was busily gathering supplies for winter. Hitler slowed up and motioned to me to look. He reached into his pocket of his coat and brought forth a paper bag of hazel nuts. Quietly and with a half smile on his pinkish face he walked forward toward the squirrel holding some nuts in the open palm of his right hand. The bush-tailed little fellow looked with bright eyes at the man and his nuts, and waited to be coaxed. Then, with a quick jump, it ran up his coat and climbed into his hand, calmly to gather the nuts in its paws and sit there chattering. Der Fuehrer and master of nearly all of Europe was pleased as punch. He chuckled and talked to the little animal. Forgetful of the world around him and the thousands fighting and dying at his command far out there on the Russian steppes.

"Ja, if the world would only mind its own business like this little squirrel," he said suddenly and brushed bush-tail aside. We resumed a slower walk, and the half dozen S. S. guards and yeomen always around him moved forward at appropriate distance behind us.

"It gathers in food to live and keeps itself busy in the business of getting it all its life. That was all I wanted to do before the madmen made me change my plans and fight for the existence of Germany. I had plans and work for my people for fifty years to come, and didn't need a war to stay in office like the Daladris and Chamberlains. And for that matter, Herr Roosevelt of America."

My ears picked up a slight edge of annoyance in the voice of the Fuehrer when he mentioned Roosevelt. I looked at him out of the corner of my eyes and saw his brow pucker beneath the visored rap with just a slight frown. Instinctively I felt that we had touched a sore spot, easy to guess and easy to irritate into a mental outburst. He was inwardly bitter and vindictive against the man he obviously considered his greatest political and personal foe, a man at the head of a state more powerful and more resourceful in a different way than his own, and therefore to him a direct menace and danger. I felt intuitively that just for that second an icy chill had crept between us. It struck me suddenly with unmistakable clarity that I had stumbled on a secret locked with the Fuehrer's breast, a secret he would never let out and which he may never admit having.

Mighty Hitler of the Nazi Reich and the new order Europe basically and by instinct fears President Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States of America, and no chest-pounding in public or boisterous talk of invincibility and unshakable faith in Divine Providence and victory can alter that fact.

I got a fleeting glimpse deep into his heart on that day of early November 1941, if not into his mind and the secret plan in his pocket for Japan's attack on us as the first step of desperate vengeance and expression of that very fear I discovered.

I repeat, Hitler down in the bottom of his heart is afraid of Roosevelt and as long as some years ago knew that he had met his match. He declared his own war on us in the wake of Japan's attack scarcely a month after I discovered his secret, proving beyond doubt that he is wildly grasping for safety by rushing into the fray in the hope of catching us before we are ready.

Like a tiger at bay, he wants to spring and land the knockout blow to paralyze the power of the man and the land he fears more than anything else in the world. His sixth sense has told him that death and destruction of himself and his Nazi Reich lie at the end of the path if he fails to thwart his mighty enemy across the Atlantic before the next year of war has passed.

After that, it will be a downhill grade for the Fuehrer and his cohorts, swept along by that tidal wave of overwhelming power and resources mobilized into action against him by America and Roosevelt.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Huss will continue his description of this interview in a second installment tomorrow.)

F. D. PLEDGES HELP IN EAST

Anti-Axis Powers Ready To Blast Foes On All Fronts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — A ringing disclosure by President Roosevelt that the anti-axis powers have agreed to throw their entire resources into the "utter and complete defeat of the Japanese war lords" today spurred on the valiant defenders of brutally bombed Manila, threatened Singapore and the endangered Dutch East Indies.

Somewhere out on the broad reaches of the enflamed Pacific, the American battle fleet was "following an intensive and well planned campaign against the Japanese forces which will result in positive assistance to the defense of the Philippine Islands."

Simultaneously, the manpower and material resources of the United States, the British Empire, the Netherlands East Indies and China were being welded together for what may prove to be an early and smashing counter-offensive against utterly savage efforts of the Japanese to control the China Sea.

To the residents of the unprotected and open city of Manila, and to the gallant U. S.-Filipino forces under command of General Douglas MacArthur, President Roosevelt broadcast this message of courage and hope:

"I give to the people of the Philippines my solemn pledge that their freedom will be redeemed and their independence established and protected. The entire resources, in men and in material, of the United States stand behind this pledge."

In addition, the President revealed in an unannounced Sunday night short wave broadcast that the resources of the British, the Dutch and the Chinese have likewise been "dedicated" to joint Pacific action, "obviously as a result of the series of White House war conferences over which he and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill have been presiding."

RADCLIFF HOME LOOTED; BURGLARS - OBTAIN $20

Residence of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Radcliff of Williamsport was entered and $20 taken Saturday night.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said someone looted the home between 5 and 8 p. m. Saturday while the Radcliffs were away, opening a back door and entering the house through the furnace room. The money was taken from a dresser drawer. Nothing else was missing, the sheriff said, although the downstairs rooms were ransacked.

Laden Barker, near New Holland, reported that someone had entered his home Sunday, taking some canned goods from the kitchen. The Barker family went away Sunday morning and found the house broken into on their return Sunday evening.

If you allow air space around the outside of the refrigerator you permit the warm air from the coils to escape and save on operating costs. An air space of two or three inches at the back and above is particularly important.

JAPANESE LOSE PACIFIC FLEET AT NAVAL BASE READY TO ACT

Filipino forces engaged a Jap force 10 times stronger than themselves.

(The broadcast said Jap bombers once more appeared over Manila this morning but dropped no bombs.)

Meanwhile, Japanese forces on the southern Luzon Island Front maintained their pressure on the American and Filipino defenders. But on the Northern Front the Japs failed to change the situation.

A new war communique issued by United States Far Eastern headquarters stated:

"The Japanese in southern Luzon are continuing to build up their forces and are maintaining their pressure."

"There has been no material change in the north."

Earlier the Japanese drive against Manila had slowed down on both the Northern and Southern Fronts as the American and Filipino troops stiffened their resistance in response to word that "help is surely coming."

Assurance of aid for the outnumbered defending forces against the Japs was given in a communique issued from the office of High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre. It promised:

"Help is surely coming—help of sufficient adequacy and power that the invader will be driven from our midst and will be rendered powerless ever to threaten us again."

(Editor's Note: At Washington President Roosevelt promised that the freedom of the Philippines "will be redeemed." He said the resources of the United States, the British Empire, China and the Netherlands East Indies have been dedicated "to the utter and complete defeat of the Japanese war lords."

(NBC reported from Manila that the Filipinos are "fighting like demons—fighting live those suicide squads.")

After a night in which the blackout was lifted and lights blazed in the capital, flames and smoke still rose over battered Manila. Five large fires burned throughout the night.

Like the fighting force at the front line, residents of the bomb-wracked capital maintained a chins-up spirit as they surveyed the damage done by illegal and waster air raids and vowed:

"We can take it."

Actual fighting, the War Department reported, "was confined to relatively unimportant operations" yesterday, but, at the same time, the sheer bulk of Nippon's legions grew by the hour.

"Enemy reinforcements are landing in large numbers in the vicinity of Damortis, on the Lingayen Gulf," the Army communique disclosed, adding: "Heavy enemy air activity continues."

Qualified observers viewed this news gravely with the comment that General MacArthur, now vastly outnumbered, can expect only to delay and harass the drive to Manila unless he receives unexpected assistance.

NEW RATIONING MOVE AWAITED

Other Goods May Be Tied Up By Government, OPM Indicates

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—Predicting that the drastic rationing imposed on rubber articles will soon be extended to automobiles, trucks and possibly other items, defense officials today declared that the rubber rationing was necessary to forestall complete depletion of these stocks for both military and civilian usage within a month.

OPM officials predicted that the tire rationing plan probably will form the groundwork for rationing of many other consumer goods, including not only new autos and trucks, but perhaps refrigerators, radios and other items considered as essential to prosecution of the war.

How far this program will go, they said, will depend on development of military needs, but the consensus was that sales of new autos and trucks, like tires, may soon be restricted.

A spokesman for Price Administrator Leon Henderson, meanwhile, said that Henderson was fully aware of the broad economic dislocations which would result from the rubber rationing. He declared, however, that nothing would be gained by permitting rubber consumption to continue at the present high rate.

The nation would be faced with a more serious situation than under the present restrictions, if we had let things ride," he declared.

The price administration spokesmen declared that as a result of the rationing order there would be enough rubber available for military needs to carry through the "foreseeable" length of the emergency. He indicated that rubber conservation measures had made sufficient amounts of the vital raw material available to meet military needs for 18 months or longer.

RED CROSS ASKS SPEEDY ACTION TO RAISE QUOTA

A telegram from Norman H. Davis, chairman of the National Red Cross, to Carl C. Leist, chairman of the Pickaway County chapter, Monday urged local Red Cross workers to "push to rapid oversubscription" the drive for war relief funds in Pickaway County.

Volunteer contributions now are being received at the office of Chairman Leist. The drive for $8500 will open Monday, January 5. The wire from Chairman Davis read as follows:

"The bombing of Pearl Harbor Honolulu Manila the invasion of the Philippines submarine attacks in the Atlantic and Pacific have dramatically brought home to us the cruelties of this war. Wherever our heroic soldiers sailors and airmen are so valiantly defending our soil there you also will find the Red Cross flag unfurled alongside the stars and stripes. Red Cross men are on every front. Funds are urgently needed to keep intact these front lines of mercy. The enemy respects neither holidays or weekends. The Red Cross war fund should be pushed to over subscription. Give all the people an opportunity to participate. The Red Cross is a peoples partnership in time of need. It is patriotism in action to give to the Red Cross. Miseries of war cannot be measured by quotas and mathematical yardsticks nor personal conveniences. The president the American people and our fighting men expect much of us. An avalanche of giving now will help the Red Cross to deliver the goods."

WEDDING PARTY ROBBED BY CLEVELAND YEGGS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29 — An east side man remained in police custody today, suspected of the robbery last night of four Detroit residents just as they were entering their automobile after a wedding celebration.

Morris Dorn, his wife, Esther, daughter, Sylvia, 21, and his brother-in-law, Morris Schneider, were relieved of $245 in money and jewelry by two men, one armed with a knife and the other with a gun.

They had been attending the wedding of Miss Esther Krantz of Cleveland and Morris Buzgan of Canton.

Dorn followed the robbers in his automobile, saw them enter a parked car and gave police the license number. Detectives picked up the suspect as he entered the yard at the address listed to the owner of the car.

Dorn was robbed of $185, while his wife and brother-in-law were forced to hand over cash, a diamond ring and wrist watch and his daughter $10.

bardment from our warships and by bombing from the Hampdens. The latter also laid a smokescreen to mask our ships and machine-gunned batteries and nearby barracks in the Ragsundo Islands.

"Two main military landings were made, one on the small island of Maalooy and the second on the southwestern extremity, a town in south Vaagso.

"The entire garrison at Maalooy was killed or taken prisoner. Military storehouses and ammunition dumps were own up and a battery of four guns were destroyed.

"In South Vaagso the Germans put up stiff resistance and in street fighting we suffered some casualties before the town could be brought completely under our control.

"An enemy tank was put out of action and oil tanks and ammunition stores were destroyed. The radio station and an industrial plant also were destroyed."

Capture Avoided

"Five merchant ships, two armed trawlers and an unarmed tug were destroyed, totalling 15,600 tons. The merchant vessels beached themselves to avoid capture and were destroyed by our naval forces while the armed vessels were sunk."

The communique stated that in conjunction with these activities, British aircraft effectively bombed nearby enemy shipping at sea and in port, destroying one vessel and inflicting heavy damage on the Herdla airport.

Throughout the day British fighter planes engaged German planes in a series of dogfights in which four German fighters were shot down and several German bombers were destroyed. The British lost eight bombing planes and three fighters.

Concluding, the communique said:

"Our ships suffered only very minor damage. All returned fit for immediate service."

"Our casualties were slight. Over 120 Germans were killed, 95 German naval and military prisoners were taken and nine Quilings also were brought back.

"The entire operations went exactly according to plan and all objectives were attained within the time allowed, all our forces withdrawing by 2:45 p. m."

(The German high command said British warships had appeared at several points off the Norwegian coast Saturday night and carried out landings and raids on several islands. It claimed the assault detachments had been driven back to their ships, and that ten British bombers had been shot down, a destroyer sunk and a destroyer and cruiser damaged.

Loss of a German patrol boat was admitted, and several coastal vessels were said to have been sunk by the raiders.

An earlier air ministry report mentioned the airbase at Sole, Norway, as a target in Saturday night's operations. This is not far from the big Nazi air and sea base at Stavanger where Nazi authorities were reported on Saturday to have decreed harsh punishment for acts to aid the British.

Families of Stavanger youths who have been "escaping" to join the British or free Norwegian forces are to be severely dealt with, the decree said.

25 SURVIVORS OF TWO U. S. SHIPS REACH HONOLULU

Japanese Submarines Hit Two Freighters In Pacific

ATTACKS ARE RELATED

10 Harrowing Days Adrift At Sea Discussed By Crewmen

HONOLULU, Dec. 29.—Twenty-five survivors of two American freighters, torpedoed and sunk by Japanese submarines in Hawaiian waters, were safe here today after ten harrowing days at sea in open lifeboats. Shortly after twelve survivors of the Matson freighter Manini were brought to port, without news of the remaining 21 members of the crew, 13 survivors of the freighter Prusa arrived. Nine of their shipmates were killed and twelve are missing, they reported.

The Manini was torpedoed December 17, and the Prusa was sent to the bottom in the early morning of December 18. The Manini survivors arrived here Saturday night, and the Prusa survivors were brought in Sunday night, by a coast guard cutter which picked them up after they had drifted for nearly ten days.

Sammy Bartholomew of Fort Worth, Texas, an older on the Prusa, told of the sinking of his ship and the subsequent experiences of the survivors from a bed in Queens Hospital.

Nine Killed Instantly

"We were all asleep in the crew's quarters, except the deck watch," Bartholomew said. "The torpedo struck aft, demolishing our quarters and nine of the crew were instantly killed."

"The torpedo blew a terrific hole in the old ship and wrecked the passageways. The men who hadn't been killed by the explosion were dazed, and it was hard work finding our way and crawling through the wreckage to the deck."

"The ship sank in nine minutes, and we had to work fast. We got two lifeboats over, and got away just before she went down. There were thirteen in my boat, and twelve in the other, including the skipper, Captain G. H. Boy. We haven't seen or heard anything of them."

There was no panic or disorder in the few minutes given the men to save themselves, Bartholomew declared, although the work of digging passages through the wreckage was pretty difficult, and the men knew the Prusa could not stay afloat very long.

"We were out nine days and ten hours," Bartholomew continued. Two hours after the old ship went down we heard planes overhead. We didn't recognize them, and don't know whether they saw us. They may have been Japanese."

Sail Raised

"We drifted in the same general vicinity for three days, hoping the planes were our own, and would come back, but nothing happened. Then we raised sail and proceeded by 'donkey navigation' towards Honolulu."

"We made 500 miles before we were picked up. On Christmas Day Navy planes came over and dropped us some presents—food and a beaker of water."

Saturday morning an army plane dropped more food and a first aid kit, and in the afternoon a coast guard vessel picked up the survivors.

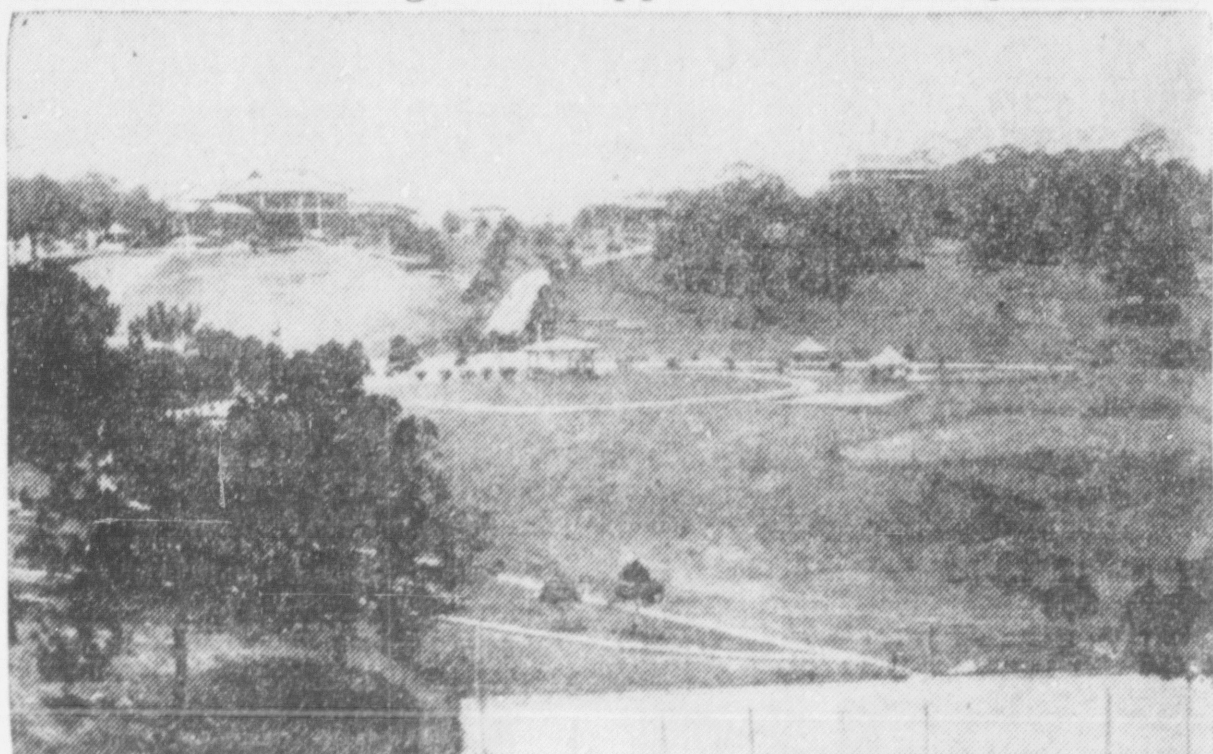

Bartholomew suffered face cuts and bruises and internal injuries. Another survivor, Alfred Dyer of Toledo, was injured about the head and back.

"It was the worst experience I ever had," he said, "but I'm doing all right now—thanks to the coast guard."

Seven others of the Prusa's survivors were kept in the hospital, and four were discharged as in fit condition.

ROADS TO PLAY BIG WAR ROLE

Engineer Reveals 200 WPA Men At Work In Area Near Air Base

Pickaway County roads may play an important part in the development of the county as a defense area.

County Engineer Henry McCrady said Monday that more than 200 WPA workers now are employed on County Road Number 8 in Madison Township, a road which may see heavy traffic with the development of the Army airport near Groveport.

The project, which includes widening three miles of the road to an 18 foot pavement, is about 65 percent completed. The road connects State Route 188 with the Franklin County line and runs to within a mile of the site of the airport.

Roads 22 and 23 already have been designated by the War Department as federal highways, and officials of the War Department have reported that Route 23 would be used in servicing the airport north of Ashville.

Construction of an army camp in the Pickaway and Ross Counties probably would see the development of Routes 23 and 104 south of Circleville, officials predict.

WOMEN BEING TRAINED FOR AIRPLANE PLANT

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29.—The Curtiss-Wright training school today begins the training of 25 women to work in its warplane factory at Port Columbus.

Clara Barton, organizer of the American Red Cross, was a clerk in the United States patent office from 1854 until she resigned to become a volunteer nurse in the Civil war.

er Manini were playing blackjack in their quarters in the early evening of December 17 when a torpedo from a large Japanese submarine struck it aft amidship.

It was a black night, and the sea was rough, said Boatswain Orin Jewett of Van Nuys, Calif., who was dealer in the blackjack game.

"I left twelve dollars on the table," he related. "We all knew it had come. The explosion shook us up, but it was not the terrific shock I thought it would be."

Deckload Loosened

"There was a great whiff of air rushing out from the ship, and we could hear the breaking of the big chains that held the deck load of lumber. We ran for the lifeboats. Twelve of us went to the starboard. There was no great excitement but it was dangerous as the deckload was loose."

"I don't know whether the rest of the crew (21 men) escaped or not, but I believe they got away in the other boat. As we launched our boat a huge sea washed right up to the deck."

HERE is a view of Baguio, Philippine summer capital, 140 miles south of Manila. Civil officials were empowered to designate Baguio an "open city" when they deemed it necessary. According to dispatches, the country club, shown above, was being used as a headquarters by General Douglas MacArthur. Baguio is surrounded by steep mountains with few roads. The Japanese were reported driving against Baguio from two directions.

Defense Group Meets To Report Progress

Plans to further coordinate Circleville's defense efforts will be taken at two meetings scheduled this week.

The Defense Council will hold its regular meeting Monday night in the office of its chairman, T. E. Wilson. The Council's newly appointed committee, the Community Distribution Committee, is expected to report at the meeting. Chairman of the committee is Leslie D. May, in charge of tire rationing in the Circleville community.

Pickaway County Rifle and Pistol Club will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the rifle range to discuss a program which the club may follow in promoting the local defense program. Scheduled to appear at the meeting is Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, with whose department members of the Rifle and Pistol Club may work. Officials in charge of defense organization believe that a group of men with experience in handling rifles and pistols may work with the sheriff's department in checking sabotage.

Reports from state Red Cross headquarters Monday were that a Red Cross field representative with supervision over 32 counties in Ohio will begin this week coordinating the activities of the local defense units and those of the Red Cross disaster committees. The representative is Miss Frances Grey McClaughry.

Final instructions before the opening of Pickaway County's Red Cross War Relief Fund drive on January 5 will be given when representatives from every section of the city and county meet in the Common Pleas court room of the Court House Friday.

The meeting has been called by Carl C. Leist, chairman of the Pickaway County Chapter, American Red Cross. When the drive officially opens next Monday Red Cross workers will campaign for $8,500, the money to be used for the relief of American soldiers and their families. Eighty-five percent of the funds are sent to National Red Cross Headquarters, the other 15 percent remaining in the county.

Smoke screens which hid the advance of their armies were used by the Mongol hordes attacking Europe in the early part of the 13th century.

City Auditor Lillian Young, Monday, was preparing a financial statement for 1941 to submit to councilmen at their meeting Tuesday night.

U. S. TUNES

Xavier Cugat winds up his 1941 "Cugat Rumba Revue" with the perennial New Year's favorite, "Show Me the Way to Go Home"—but in conga tempo! The Thursday, January 1 broadcast at 7:30 p. m. will also feature Songstress Margo in a Spanish version of the popular "Elmer's Tune." Carmen Castillo will sing "Salud Dinero y Amor," while Margo and Bert Parks will offer a duet arrangement of "Why Don't We Do This More Often?" and Miguelito Valdes, Afro-Cuban song stylist, and the Cugat Chorus will also be spotlighted.

SONG FOR PENSACOLA

When Vox Pop broadcast from the Naval Air Training Base at Pensacola, Florida, August 11, Parks Johnson and Wally Butterworth learned that the Annapolis of the Air had no song of its own to close the show. The Vox Poppers volunteered to make arrangements to have a special song composed for the student flyers, and requested Fred Waring to write it when they returned to New York. Fred immediately accepted the assignment, and the song will have its debut on the Waring Pennsylvanians' show January 2.

NEW SHOW

Though great secrecy surrounds the actual format of "How Am I Doing?" which debuts with Bob Hawk as emcee on Friday, January 9, 7:30 p. m., this much is known:

It's a quiz game played by five sets of two contestants each, giving ten people a chance to earn big money during the half hour show. Hawk thought it up himself and it was sold over long distance telephone. Vaughn Monroe's hand will play.

RADIO BRIEFS

Burgess Meredith's appearance on Charles Martin's "Playhouse" Friday night, his seventh, was probably his last in quite some time. He heads for Hollywood January 3 to start a new picture.

James Melton was a close runner-up to Richard Crooks as top male vocalist in the classical division of the Radio Daily poll just completed. Melton is again running true to form, having, in past seasons, finished among the first three.

Bill Henry earned his war commending job on "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" by scoops he scored last summer when he was on the vacationing Hedda. At the outbreak of the Japanese war, Hedda scrapped her interviews with Hollywood visitors for the duration and immediately set the former war correspondent and Olympic games expert in the spot.

Ray Collins, who was the original "Crime Doctor" but is now in Hollywood under a film contract, is coming east to spend New Year's Eve with John McIntire, who inherited his air role.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION PLANS GATHERING HERE

Tri-County Evangelical Ministerial Association will hold its monthly meeting in the Calvary Evangelical Church, Circleville, Tuesday beginning at 2 p. m. The Rev. L. C. Cooper, the president from Columbus, will be in charge. The sermon will be preached by District Superintendent Rev. E. E. Nietz of Columbus.

Rev. O. W. Matzke, Superintendent Flat Rock, Ohio, Children's Home of the Evangelical Demonstration, will deliver an address "Significance of Special Church Days."

Dinner will be served by the entertaining church at 5:30 p. m. This meeting is open to the public.

1942 FARM PLAN TO BE AIRED AT JAN. 14 SESSION

Farm plan for 1942 will be discussed when farmers from nine counties meet in Circleville January 14. The meeting will be held in Betz' Restaurant.

Members of the county AAA committees will be among those who will attend the meeting. Topics discussed include efficiency rating, a synopsis of the 1942 Farm Plan and a discussion on "How to Get Results in 1942."

Counties included in the district are Licking, Fairfield, Fayette, Ross, Franklin, Madison, Clinton, Highland and Pickaway.

The local AAA office reported

Monday that there were still fifty wheat marketing cards on file which farmers have not secured, and urged that farmers who have not received their marketing quota cards do so at once.

TWO UP FOR PAROLE

Two Circleville youths who are serving time in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield on bad check and larceny charges will be up for paroles February 1. They are Theodore Riggan, sentenced March 27, 1941, for issuing a check without funds, and Leroy Starkey, sentenced April 8, 1941, for larceny. Riggan has been serving one to three years and Starkey one to seven years.

In ancient times the word "Slay" meant "glorious."

NAZIS TO USE GAS, AMERICAN ATTACHE HINTS

George H. Earle, Minister To Bulgaria, Looks For Drastic Move

GERMAN DEFEAT NEARS

All Previous Records Of Barbarism To Be Broken By Hitlerites

ISTANBUL, Dec. 23—George H. Earle, American minister to Bulgaria, declared flatly today that Nazi hopes of winning the war have been smashed, but predicted Hitler may resort to using gas.

"Germany already has lost the war," he said.

"Her leaders know it. Therefore, before the end comes, and the Nazis begin their death throes, there is no foul trick they won't try in the hope of escaping their doom."

(Editor's Note: A British radio broadcast heard by CBS said today that Bulgaria is Hitler's new slave market and that 500 Bulgarian workers are to go to Germany.)

"It is now Bulgaria's turn to become one of Hitler's European slave markets," BBC said.)

Earle, who arrived in Istanbul after evading a rumored Nazi plot against him, pulled no punches in his discussion of the Nazis.

"When doom approaches," he said, "they will show the world they can exceed even their previous records of barbarism by wrecking every city and town in the occupied countries."

"It seems to be established that they are preparing for gas warfare."

"It would be unwise, however, to expect a collapse from within Germany."

"Now Hitler has taken supreme command of the army, an act which horrified Germany, the Nazis no longer can be depended on to follow their logical course."

"The main asset of the Nazis is their ability to hoodwink the Germans. . . . Germany's real secret weapon today is censorship."

"America's vast production is bringing Germany's doom nearer. We must find means of telling the German people."

UNIQUE POLICE FORCE CARRIES NO REVOLVERS

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—A police force without firearms—with the motto: "If a man can't talk his way out of trouble, he doesn't belong on our force."

Heading this unique squad of 89 special officers, deputized by the City of San Diego, and 38 boys ranging in age from 7 to 13, is Richard Brimacombe, Chief of Linda Vista Guards.

Brimacombe, onetime Postmaster of Butte, Mont., and Butte city clerk and school board clerk, claims Linda Vista has the only law enforcement group of its kind in the country—protection without arms.

The police force rounded up the most promising youngsters in the newly expanding community to organize the Kearny Mesa Junior Patrol, with the primary function of assisting in the "good neighbor policy" adopted by the group.

Each boy is presented with a badge and the imposing commission to "preserve order, to encourage better observance of the law, to protect the aged, the young and the infirm from harm, to avoid and prevent danger from traffic hazards, to render first aid and call assistance in case of injury, and to report to the nearest officer or police station anything which requires attention as tending to keep his neighborhood from becoming a better, safer, cleaner community."

The boys are taught first aid besides absorbing instruction on general duties, and as "police-men," they'll depend entirely on moral suasion, a technique already well developed by the adult group.

Some of the men are former peace officers, some do not have a law enforcement background, but all of them work in unison with the younger group in protecting the little community through which 12,000 cars pass daily.

Courtesies of War Extended to Fall Jap foe

ALTHOUGH the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor had just been beaten off and although this airman had participated in it, American military men in Hawaii did not forget the ordinary courtesies of war. United States soldiers and sailors are shown above providing burial for a Japanese lieutenant killed when his plane crashed into Kaneohe bay. The customary burial for an officer was provided, even including a firing squad.

WORK IS RUSHED ON HUGE NEW A T O M-SMASHER

BERKELEY, Cal.—With one year of work completed on the University of California's new cyclotron, world's largest atom-smasher, the apparatus is about one-third finished.

The huge cyclotron is expected to be ready for operation sometime in the fall of 1943.

Delayed about three months because of difficulties in getting metal, engineers are now ready to put the finishing touches on the giant magnet and construct the building which will house it.

Foundations in Place

The foundations for the columns of the 24-sided building which will house the 4,900 ton machine are now in place. The 30-foot high magnet is completed except for the top pole piece, and engineers are now building a power line from the campus proper to the cyclotron site on a high hill a half mile away.

When the atom-smasher is completed it will be at least five times as powerful as the largest existing cyclotron in the world today, the 225-ton machine now in operation on the same campus.

It will be used to manufacture radioactive elements, the radium-like substances which are being used for fundamental research in nearly all the physical sciences and in experiments on new treatments of disease.

OLD FERRY LINE CLOSES

NYACK, N. Y.—The national defense program and its ally, priorities—have combined to write finis to the 101-year-old Nyack-Tarrytown ferry, the oldest ferry line on the Hudson River north of New York City. The ferry service, once the sole line between Westchester County and Rockland County, was faced with financial disaster after priorities curtailed production of automobiles from the Chevrolet assembly plant in North Tarrytown.

DOORBELL PEST TO BE CHARGED NICKLE A RING

LAKEWOOD, O.—The government has been talking about self-liquidating projects for so long that it has finally made an impression upon an inventor, Murray P. Torrence has recently been issued a patent on a coin-controlled doorbell device.

Here's the idea — A magazine solicitor, collector or one's mother-in-law pays the home a visit. Light heartedly bounding up the front steps in anticipation of a cheery welcome, the caller is confronted with the Torrence doodad which stops them in their tracks.

In order to attract the attention of the householder it is necessary to drop a nickel in the doorbell device and then if the coin is not a penny you press the button and the bell rings as of yore. In other words—no nickel no ring. And if no ring then no answer to the door. Of course if no one answers the bell ringer gets his money back.

(One thrifty housewife has suggested that she might entertain five days a week. The coin in the front door gadget to pay for the bridge prizes and eats.

SENATOR USES HUMOR IN HIS DEBATE ON TAX

WASHINGTON—The new national defense tax bill was before the Senate and the New Deal Senators were tense when Republican Senator Danaher from Connecticut arose during debate on a committee amendment. They heard him say:

"While I usually take everything that comes from the Committee on Finance without dotting an 'i' or crossing a 't', I point out to the chairman that before we vote on the amendment I do not quite know what to do when there is no 't'. If the chairman will look on page 99, in line 1, he will find the word 'written' with a 't' missing. I ask unanimous consent to insert it."

The senators turned to the page, saw the typographical error and smiled. So did the spectators in the galleries.

POSTOFFICE'S JOB IN WAR, STRESSED

Mails Must Go Through, Postmaster General Tells Officials

A. Hulse Hays, master of the Circleville postoffice, Monday announced receipt of instructions from Postmaster General Frank Walker regarding the use of the United States mails if and when they are interrupted due to the war.

The instructions, sent to all postmasters, were contained in a nine-page circular in which Walker stressed that the mails must be protected under any circumstances. Walker closed the circular with "keep constantly in mind, no matter what happens, the mails must go through."

Postmaster Hays said he would cooperate closely with the Civilian Defense set-up.

Briefly the instructions are: 1. Establish a working arrangement with the local Civil Defense Council and make certain that all postal employees are familiar with its arrangements.

2. Arrange for protective measures for federal buildings and equipment. Study possible use of Postoffice building as air-raid shelter for public use.

3. Store emergency supply of stamps, money order blanks, Defense Stamps and Defense Bonds to use in case regular supply is destroyed.

4. Survey first-aid facilities in Postoffice and stations.

5. Contact owners of suitable buildings for temporary postoffice or garage quarters should present building be damaged.

6. Instruct all postal employees to report to headquarters in case of emergency.

7. Make arrangements with retired mail carriers and clerks to assist postal authorities in case of need.

8. Prepare lists of all extra equipment that could be available for use elsewhere in an emergency.

9. Postal employees should familiarize themselves with availability of local transportation facilities.

10. In case of emergencies the postmaster is instructed to notify the district inspector, notify Railway Mail Service, and use all available facilities and personnel for the protection of the mail.

SHARING PROFIT AND RISK

ANYBODY who can take his eye off the war news and turn it to the financial page may read pleasant reports of bonuses paid to employees, Royal F. Munger, writing in the Chicago Daily News, says:

"We have been greatly cheered by the number of year-end bonus payments that are being made by corporations. It is a good idea, particularly under exceptional and non-recurrent conditions.

"If repeated year after year, experience shows that it is not such a good idea, even when the income tax is so heavy that the government really pays part of the bill. In time it would merely be regarded as a part, and an uncertain part, of the weekly wage.

"What is really needed, and is the goal toward which all industry is groping, is a genuine partnership with labor, sharing profits and together avoiding the risk of loss. That is a long way ahead, but in another century we believe it will be almost universal."

Forerunners of this development are already in existence. There are more such "partnerships" functioning than the average person is aware of. Perhaps they will be common, if not universal, in less than 100 years.

BACK TO BICYCLES?

AUTOMOBILE production is sliding down hill so fast that production is now only half of what it was a year ago. We shall soon reckon it in hundreds of thousands instead of millions, and then in tens of thousands. Many trucks will be needed, and presumably supplied, but the passenger cars we're driving now will have to last a long time. Wise owners will get them into as good condition as possible, as quickly as possible, and then use them as gently as possible.

The alternative is the bicycle, which already supplants the automobile in most foreign countries. It is a curious reversal. And any day now, Father may be found commandeering Junior's bike for the duration.

The way Christmas shopping picked up again the second week of our war with Japan showed determination to make up for lost time.

Sure, as Winston Churchill says, four-fifths of the human race are on our side; but a lot of 'em have their hands tied.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

HERR HITLER is generally seen in Washington as the real instigator of the Japanese attack on Hawaii, the Philippines and other American overseas possessions and threats against our mainland west coast cities.

That Tokyo was determined upon Nippon's conquest of China and upon grabs of Asiatic mainland territory to China's southward, as well as the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and other Pacific islands, isn't doubted by anyone, but it's questioned that even the Jap militarists would have had the nerve to take the all-out warpath against so formidable an antagonist as the United States, but for some pretty sweeping assurances of lots of help from their associated Axis powers.

It isn't deemed so certain that they'll get the aid that, presumably, has been promised to 'em.

There's an obvious conflict in interests, as between the Japs and the Nazis. The Nazi game is to force such a Yankee naval concentration in the Pacific as to prevent this country's protection of supplies bound for England. The Japs manifestly are counting on such Nazi activity in the Atlantic that we'll have to concentrate in that ocean, leaving them comparatively free to dominate the sea on their side of the Americas.

The theory is that the Fuehrer gave his pledge to the Mikado to do what the latter expected of him. It evidently was Adolf who did the promising, because it was Japan that took the initiative, which it's argued that they wouldn't have risked otherwise. If the promise had been from Tokyo to Berlin, it would have been in order for the Fuehrer to initiate trouble, distracting our attention his way, out of the Pacific.

LONG-RANGE FIGHTER PLANES

WASHINGTON — Following the outbreak of war, the U. S. Army and Navy were in the unenviable position of sitting by, powerless to help the little band of Marines gallantly defending Wake and Midway Islands. Even more important, the Army and Navy also were unable to send any real reinforcements to the Philippines.

Reason for this was not only that the Pacific fleet was handicapped by the Pearl Harbor attack, but also because the Army and Navy lacked long-range pursuit planes. And the greatest need at Wake, Midway and the Philippines were planes able to ward off Jap bombers.

We have thousands of pursuit planes in the United States, but the only present way to get them across the Pacific, is to take off their wings, crate them and put them on slow cargo boats. Thus they would be subjected to the grave risk of Jap submarines.

And the amazing fact is that the Army Air Corps three years ago was begged, urged, and cajoled to build long-range pursuit planes able to fly to the islands of the Pacific.

The man who hammered at the Air Corps on this point until he was black and blue in the face was Major Alexander P. de Seversky, famous Russo-American plane designer, who wanted the Army to double the fire power of pursuit planes and also double their flying range, at an additional cost of $1,800 per plane.

"FANTASTIC" IN 1938

However, General "Hap" Arnold, chief of the Air Corps, vetoed the idea because, he said, "the tactical advantage is not worth the extra cost."

In January 1938 Seversky had flown 1,400 miles from New York to Havana in 5 hours and 2 minutes, breaking the record. It was after this that he went to Arnold, thinking the Air Corps chief might be impressed by the dramatic flight, if not by the blueprints.

But Arnold remained unimpressed. He merely said, "That doesn't prove a damn thing. Give Seversky a broomstick and he'll fly anywhere."

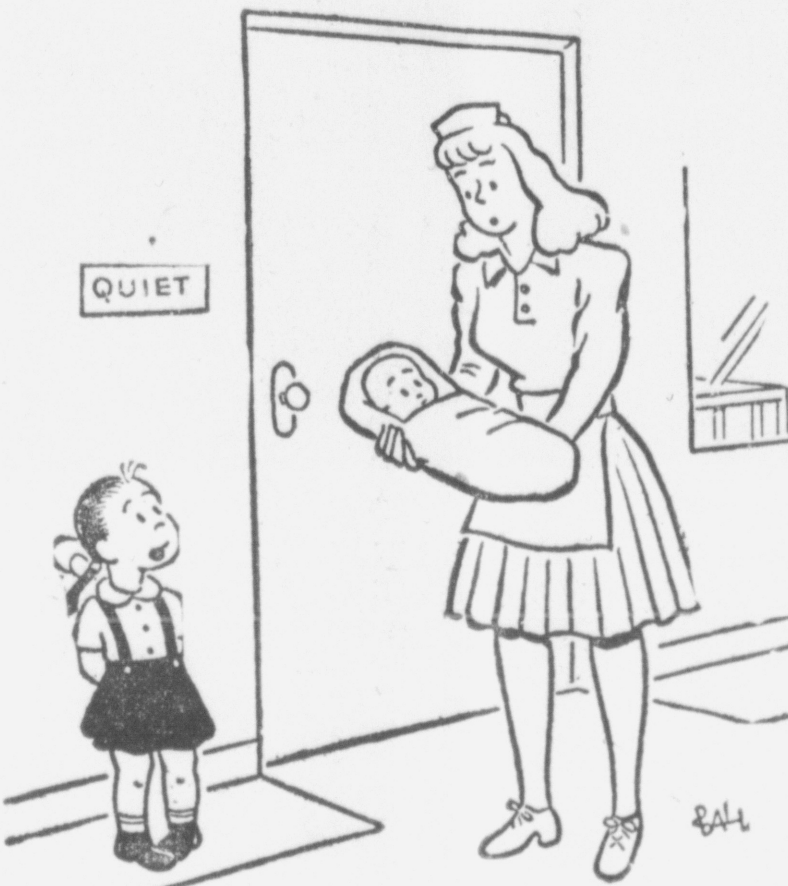

So Seversky tried another stunt. He gave the plane to a girl, Jacqueline Cochran, who was not acquainted with that type of plane. Yet, she flew it from Los Angeles to Cleveland, a distance of 2,000 miles, winning the Bendix Trophy.

But the War Department reaction was: "Seversky is seeking cheap publicity for his firm."

What he wanted, however, was to prove that it was necessary to have pursuit planes with a sufficient range to reach the outposts of the United States—Hawaii, Wake, Guam, the Philippines. This was stated formally, with what now proves to be prophetic foresight, in a letter Seversky wrote to the War Department on June 25, 1938, in which he said:

Modern Scientific Way To Treat Pneumonia

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

When I was a hospital intern, the only thing that my medical chiefs could do in a case of pneumonia was to order rest in bed, a pneumonia jacket to cover the chest and keep it warm, institute good, watchful nursing care, give the patient plenty of fresh air, and be ready with stimulating drugs if the heart began to go bad.

Even fresh air was a recent innovation then. When Dr. Northrup of the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, began to put his patients with pneumonia out in the open air, everybody predicted that the exposure would kill them. Dr. Northrup said, "Why make the patient take five breaths when three breaths will do?" And he proved that this was good treatment, because his results were better than when patients were placed in a stuffy room.

The fresh air treatment was, of course, the father of the oxygen treatment which supplies constant good air and keeps the lungs aerated.

First Practical Application Everyone was looking for an anti-toxin or a serum for pneumonia because it seemed so logical that such a treatment would be effective. The first practical application of any serum that I saw was during army service in 1917, but it was very unsatisfactory then.

There was a serum for only one type of pneumonia and it took a long laboratory procedure with exhaustive examinations of the patient's sputum to find out what type was present. Since then it has been found that there are some thirty-eight different types of germs which cause pneumonia, each of which differs slightly in its human reactions.

Effective sera have been produced to combat most of them, and simplified laboratory techniques allow the physician to determine the type which the patient has within a short time. By 1930 the serum treatment of pneumonia had recorded the first great reduction in the death rate which could definitely be ascribed to a specific treatment.

Then in the 1930's came the astonishing news of the chemicals known as the sulfonamides. These are effective against a great many kinds of different infections, particularly, however, pneumonia. They are the realization of the "magic bullet" which was so graphically described in the movie of that name which depicted the life of Paul Ehrlich.

Sulfonamide

The idea of the "magic bullet" is some sort of a drug which will kill germs and not harm the living tissue of the person or animal who has the germs. To find such a chemical has not been as easy as it sounds. The Duke in "Huckleberry Finn" had a patented tartar remover which he said would take the tartar off the teeth, but most of the enamel along with it. That was the trouble with most of the "magic bullets" that were discovered up to 1930.

There is no question, however, that with the sulfonamide drugs we have found the ideal, or nearly ideal, chemical of this kind.

The first one used was sulfanilamide. There are other slightly different chemical combinations, such as sulfapyridine and sulfathiazole. Others will undoubtedly be developed before long.

Which should be chosen in pneumonia, the serum treatment or the chemical treatment? Most doctors today use both, apparently with a slight improvement in results over the use of either one separately.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. R.:—"I have taken Vitamin E in concentrated form for over two months. If taken for long periods of time, is it harmful?"
Answer: No.

T. W.:—"What is the cause of a cramp in the leg muscle and what action is to be taken about it?"

Answer: Cramp of the leg muscles when walking may have some serious meaning and may not. Usually it means that the arteries of the leg are not bringing enough nourishment to the muscles. This may be due to a narrowing of the arteries. It is important for you to find out whether you belong in the serious class or whether it should be regarded as of minor consequence.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

IRENE TURNED on Roy, giving way to her wrath. "Falling for a little fake," she said. "Refusing to rent an apartment—playing around with a dressed-up, pretty little pretender. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

"Keep quiet!" said Roy.

"I won't!" said Irene. "Roy caught her arm. 'Keep quiet, or I'll shake you until your teeth fall out,' he said."

"Let me go!" Irene jerked loose. She drew back to slap Roy, and slapped Fred instead, as he was in the act of trying to get Susan away from the brawl.

"Ouch!" said Fred. "My eye!"

"Oh!" said Irene. "I—I hit the wrong man."

"Gentlemen!" said the club manager. "Ladies! Please!"

But he was too late. Already the other patrons had seen that something out of the ordinary was happening. The other dancers had gathered close around Susan, Fred, Roy and Irene. There was loud talking, Irene was in a rage.

Mr. Jones came hurrying over. "What's wrong?" he asked.

Irene pointed to Susan. "This—this—girl," she said, "has put one over on you. On you, the Dainty Diana Dairies, and all of New York. Ask her to speak French; go on. Ask her to speak Spanish—or Italian, or—or Yiddish! She can speak them all."

"Quiet!" said Mr. Jones.

"It's true, Mr. Jones," said Susan. "I—I'm a farmer's daughter, all right, but—not a typical one. I—I—"

"Not another word!" said Mr. Jones, grabbing her. "Shhhh! Stop talking such nonsense."

"Hello, everyone!" said a masculine voice.

Susan turned to see Mason Morgan.

"Oh!" she said. "It's you!"

"Right!" said Morgan. "And from what I overheard, I think we have a juicy little story for the morning papers."

"Susan," said Fred, "who is this man?"

"I'm Mason Morgan," said Mason. "Columnist."

"That's all I wanted to know," said Fred. His fist shot out, caught Morgan on the chin, and the newspaperman went down like a log.

Pandemonium broke loose after that—and Mrs. Meyer's party came to a grand climax. She hurried her guests out into the elevator, and thence to the street.

"Darn it!" said Rose Meyer. "I wanted to see the finish."

"Me too," said Lily. "I never did like that Mason Morgan. . . . I'll bet he has a beautiful shiner in the morning."

"Girls! Girls!" said their mother. And back in the club, Mr. Daniel Van Wert Jones was wringing his hands and moaning.

"Oh, this'll ruin the Dainty Diana Dairies, if it ever gets out!" he said. "I'll never be able to show my face again."

Mrs. Jones, who had refused to leave with the other guests, held on to his hand.

"There, there, Daniel Van Wert," she soothed. "Aggie's here with you." She glared at Susan. "And no little false or any other woman will ever take you from me. There, there!"

"Oh, Aggie, Aggie, what shall I do?" wailed Mr. Jones.

"You just come along with me, Daniel Van Wert," said his wife. She led him toward the elevator. Her heart was singing. She had not lost her Daniel Van Wert to a younger woman. "We'll go straight home. I'll make you some coffee with my own hands."

And then they were gone.

"Come on, Susan," said Fred. "I'll take you home."

"I'm taking her home," said Roy. "I brought her."

"Neither one of you is taking me home," said Susan. "I'm going by myself. I'm sick and tired of you both—of you, too, Irene—and of the whole cock-eyed business."

She stormed out.

"Well," said Irene. "I'm still here. Who's taking her home?"

"I'm not," said Roy, ungallantly. And he walked off to get his coat and hat.

"I'll take you home," said Fred.

"Thanks," said Irene. She looked up into Fred's face. "And we can buy a steak on the way."

"What for?" said Fred. "I'm not hungry."

"Who said anything about being hungry?" was Irene's retort. "I want the steak for your eye."

"Oh!" said Fred. And he meekly followed Irene to the elevator.

Susan stayed in bed the next morning until ten. She was mad, humiliated, and sore. Heaven alone knew what the Dainty Diana Dairies people would do to her, now they knew she was a fake—or that she wasn't at all what they thought her to be. She buried her face in the pillows for a moment, fought back tears, and wished with all her heart that she was back home in Ardendale.

The telephone bell rang. She answered it with fear gripping her. It was Fred.

"Listen, Susan," he said. "I've got to talk to you."

"You've talked enough," said Susan.

"I know. I had one drink too many, and I got so mad when Irene told me about Roy kissing you—I—saw red."

"To match your face, I suppose," said Susan. "Well, I'm seeing red, too."

"Are you going home today?"

"I don't know."

"Well, I think I'm flying on the night plane," said Fred. "Suppose I let you think it over, and come for your answer this afternoon."

"Suit yourself about that."

"All right, I will," said Fred. "I'll come to your suite around 4 o'clock. That will give you plenty of time to get out to the airport and catch the plane."

He hung up then.

Susan got out of bed, had a shower and began to dress. She was just zipping up her frock when the telephone bell rang again. This time it was Mr. Jones.

"Good morning, my dear!" he greeted.

His cheerfulness puzzled and surprised Susan. "Good morning, Mr. Jones," she said. "I'm so glad you called up. I wanted to tell you how terribly sorry I am about last night. I know you'll want to lock me up for—playing a trick on you and the Dainty Diana Dairies, but, honest Mr. Jones, I am a farmer's daughter, and—"

"Of course you are, my dear!" said Mr. Jones. "Have you seen the morning papers?"

"No, I haven't."

"Well, read them when you can. We've got nothing to worry about—not a thing."

KANSAS REGION GOES FOR FAIR IN LARGE WAY

TOPEKA, Kan.—The "school of the fair" is Kansas' most popular educational institution, according to J. C. Kohler, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, and to support his contention he pointed out that the state will conduct 100 fairs during the year.

However, 100 of Kansas' 105 counties will not necessarily have such gatherings, he continued, for at least 32 have two or more fairs and livestock shows.

One county, Shawnee, has as many as six exhibitions scheduled, while Franklin has three planned. Two counties have three fairs arranged, and 17 other districts are counting on two such shows apiece.

Kohler called attention to the fact that Kansas farmers and livestock breeders have long been aware of the benefits derived from conducting fairs that they might pattern their crops and herds after the best ones exhibited.

MONKEY COLONY IN FRISCO ZOO HAS A BATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO—The Battle of Monkey Island was called off recently and citizens returned to their normal jabbering and capercutting.

Strife in the monkey colony at San Francisco's Zoological Gardens came without warning. Eight new monkeys, smug with having graduated from the experimental laboratories of the Hooper Foundation, had been sent to the island. Upon arrival, invaders were thrown into the water, chased up trees and from rock to rock. It was a free-for-all with no holds barred until Carey Baldwin, zoo director, and his assistants rounded up the invasion-resisters and tossed them into concentration camps.

Later new arrivals were released in groups of three or four. Nothing violent happened. "I think all they wanted to do was to make it clear who was running the island," Mr. Baldwin said.

CLERGYMAN HAS SHIPPING YARD JOB; PULPIT, TOO

CAMDEN, N. J.—The Rev. Alexander Kerney, 35, pastor of the Chewa Methodist Church, Glendora, Camden, is doing his bit for national defense.

Father of three small children, the clergyman is working as a machinist in the New York shipbuilding Co. yards at more than double his salary as a preacher. He works at night in the shipyards helping Uncle Sam build his two-ocean Navy, preaches both morning and evening sermons on Sundays and hurries off again to the shops.

Recently the church granted him a leave of absence to devote more time to shipbuilding.

Bears Go To Work For All-Star Grid Event

By Graham Hovey

CHICAGO, Dec. 29—The Chicago Bears, who established a reputation of sorts in the football world during 1941, assembled at Wrigley Field today to make some early New Year's resolutions for 1942, and drew plans for living up to the first one on the list.

That initial resolution has to do with a football game in the Polo Grounds January 4, against stars of the other nine teams in the National Professional Football League.

BUCKEYES LOSE 12-POINT EDGE TO CALIFORNIA

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 29—Decisively beaten by California 50 to 38 Saturday night, Ohio State's touring cagers hoped for better success in the wind-p game of their holiday Pacific Coast series tonight with Stanford.

In the California game, Ohio State was never really a factor, trailing 32 to 16 at the half and improving only when California's substitutes had the floor. Biles, at center, led California's attack with 14 points, followed by Bailey at guard with 11, the same total garnered by Shaw, at center, leading Buckeye point-maker.

The Bucks leave for home immediately after tonight's game and are scheduled to arrive in Columbus New Year's day. They open their Big Ten season against Minnesota Saturday night in Columbus.

CULLOP, TAYLOR NAMED MINOR LOOP MANAGERS

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—Two Ohioans came up with minor league managerial berths for 1942 today. Nick Cullop, former star outfielder of the Columbus Red Birds, was named manager of the Pocatello (Idaho) Cardinals of the Pioneer league, and Harry W. Taylor, pilot of the Tiffin team in the Ohio State league last year, was chosen boss of the Jackson (Miss.) Senators of the South-eastern league. Taylor formerly played with Minneapolis and Toledo of the American Association.

OHIO STATE, MICHIGAN SWIMMERS PROVE BEST

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 29—Ohio State and Michigan swimmers were standouts as a team of western swimmers won over its eastern adversaries, 62-30, in a meet held yesterday as a feature of the international aquatic forum.

Jerry Kershner of Ohio State won the 400-meter event in 5:08.1 while Miller Anderson, Ohio State freshman gained most of the laurels in the diving. Dobson Burton of Michigan won the 50-meter event in 27.8 seconds.

Civil Court. It was for the same time and day as the first.

Morris thought he was really in a spot when, a few minutes later, he received a third subpoena, this one summoning him to jury duty in the Federal court at Atlanta. This third summons, however, solved the problem for him. Court attaches told him that a federal summons takes precedent over a state summons, and he tore up the first two.

As Athletic Director Meritt Dittmer left for Detroit, where he will interview several prospects at the national coaches' meeting, the name of Wilbur Ewbanks, coach at Oxford McGuffey High School for the last 12 years, continued to figure prominently in speculation.

Ewbanks' record at McGuffey has been exceptional, including three perfect seasons and one campaign in which the opposition was held scoreless. All told, 14 teams have won 71 games, lost 21 and tied six. Thirty of the victories came against big city schools. Ewbanks is a Miami graduate and coached at Van Wert for two years before taking over the Oxford assignment.

Others who are being considered for the job include C. B. Schuchardt, head basketball coach and assistant football coach at Nevada; Bob Whittaker, successful Bowling Green coach, and Ernie Godfrey, former assistant to Francis Schmidt at Ohio State and now an attaché of the Ohio State physical education department.

MICHIGAN PRO'S TORRID PUTTER WINS TOP PRIZE

BEAUMONT, Tex., Dec. 29—A magic touch on the greens today had won first prize money in the $5,000 Beaumont Open Golf tournament for Chick Harbert, Battle Creek, Mich.

It was largely because of a red hot putter that Harbert was able to post a semifinal round score of 67, or four under par, to grab a substantial lead which his 71 on the final round was more than enough to protect. His card totalled 276, or eight under par, for the 72 holes of medal play.

Tied for runnerup money were Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., golf's biggest money winner for the last two years, and Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., with scores of 283.

WAGERING STANDS AT 3 TO 1 ON DUKE TEAM

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 29—The transplanted Rose Bowl game to Durham between Duke and Oregon State promised today to pack the stands and every inch of standing room space available New Year's day.

Bowl officials said they already had disposed of some 56,000 tickets and could have sold 100,000 if they had a place to put all the fans.

The Oregon State Beavers, although rated as the underdog, radiated confidence as they indulged in drills at nearby Chapel Hill after a Sunday of rest.

Most of the wagering is at about 3 to 1 on a Duke victory.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Under the regime of Coach Lew Andreas, Syracuse university basketball teams have not had a losing season. The Andreas teams have rolled up 241 victories to 65 defeats.

Ben Hogan Wins Golf Title for Second Year

BEAUMONT, Tex., Dec. 29—Belting Ben Hogan, the wee man with the powerful golf swing, finished only in a tie for second place in the $5,000 Beaumont Open tournament, but in its wake today he had won a pair of "firsts" which meant far more to him than the tournament championship.

Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers' Association, announced last night that Hogan during 1941 had been the game's greatest money winner for the second straight year with a total of $18,358 in prizes, and also that Ben had copped the Harry Vardon trophy for the second consecutive season with 553 points.

Groveport Air Base to Be Completed By Middle of Summer

4,500 ENLISTED MEN TO RECEIVE ARMY TRAINING

Madison Residents Hear That Project May Be Extended

BIG COST ESTIMATED
Surveyors, Engineers On Hand To Handle All Preliminaries

Work is expected to start early in January and the gigantic Army air base just north of the Pickaway County line in Franklin County is scheduled for completion by July 1, according to hints dropped by Army officials who are already on the site chosen for the base.

Uncle Sam will spend between $7,500,000 and $12,000,000 on the base, which is expected to be used for training airmen for Army bomber crews.

Army plans call for 130 planes to be stationed at the Groveport field with 400 officers and 4,500 enlisted men to be housed there.

Lieut. Col. A. F. Dersheimer, recently transferred from Alabama to the Fifth Corps Area with headquarters at Fort Hayes, will be in charge of construction.

Contract To Be Let

The general contract for construction of the base will be let in the near future, several prominent contractors have viewed the site already intending to submit bids. All have pointed out that the location is an ideal one with much visibility available in all directions.

Many residents of Madison Township, Pickaway County have heard unconfirmed reports that the air base will extend into Pickaway County where soil has been found more suitable for air base purposes. However, this is just another of a series of reports being circulated since the base was definitely allocated to the Groveport area. It has not been confirmed by any responsible source.

Crew Starts Work

Surveyors, engineers and soil testers were at work Monday at the location which covers a 1,700-acre site. Between 2,000 and 3,000 carpenters, plumbers and steel workers are expected to be employed by spring building hangars and barracks. An employment office will be set up at the base as soon as the general contract has been let.

Many residents of the community have been informed to find new homes.

B. I. S. FUGITIVES BEING SOUGHT IN COUNTY AREA

Sheriff's officers Monday were watching for a 1942 Chevrolet bearing a Lancaster license drivers of which bought five gallons of gasoline from George Justus' service station on Route 22 just east of the Pickaway County line Sunday night and drove away without paying for it.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said he believed the car contained three boys who escaped Sunday from the Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster. The fugitives were Don Hope, 14, of Cleveland; William Hall, 16, of Cincinnati; and Louis Hand, 15, of Ansonia.

State highway patrolmen reported that one of the boys was believed to have stolen a car in Lancaster.

To India

Maj. Gen. George Brett, above, chief of the United States army air corps, accompanied by Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, British commander-in-chief, has flown to India after a three-day conference with Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Chungking, Chinese capital. Far Eastern strategy and co-ordination of defense were discussed with Chiang.

TEN PRISONERS DIE IN ATTEMPT TO FLEE CELLS

MANILA, Dec. 29.—Ten prisoners were either burned or shot to death today in an abortive jail-break attempt in which some 4,000 prisoners attempted to bolt Bilibid Prison, 15 miles south of the capital.

The attempts were believed to have been engineered by Sakdalistas imprisoned by authorities for Fifth Column activities. They were accused of spreading false reports that the Japanese were over-running the islands.

Fire broke out in the prison, burning the main wing and other buildings.

Philippine constabulary brought the situation under control with the assistance of soldiers. The prisoners claimed they wanted to join the Army.

ASHVILLE

Henry Nothstine is here on a visit from somewhere in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan where he has called home for these several years. Besides being a school teacher, he, as a youngster, was the first tenor drum boy in the Madison Cornet Band. Sixty years ago is about right with scarcely more than a half dozen living to tell about the fine times these boys had during the life of that organization.

Attorney Guy Cline and Glynn Hoover have been appointed to head the Red Cross organization for Ashville and Harrison Township. Others are to be named as helpers. Mrs. J. B. Cromley and Homer Reber are heading the workers in Walnut Township and Miss Martha Warner has been named for Madison.

A new booth, a really good one, has been installed at the telephone office. And along with this a lot of varnish is being spread on wherever needed about the place, by the manager there, G. Hoadley Brintlinger.

BARNESVILLE VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR DIES AT 98

BARNESVILLE, Dec. 29.—W. W. Groves, last member of Barnesville's Company B in the Civil War, died at 98.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

al range is the problem of transports of pursuit aviation in case of war. If our theories are correct, and Air Power becomes supreme, we cannot depend on naval protection for our war planes being transported by boats. The Navy will not be able to afford the necessary protection for our transports.

"Therefore, thought must be given to transporting airplanes to the various possessions of the United States by aid. To do that, our airplanes must have an emergency range which would enable them, in time of war, to reach any possession of the United States under their own power."

Today our pursuit planes cannot even reach Hawaii under their own power.

DOWNED FOR CHURCHILL

"Slim" Freitag, ace test pilot for Howard Aircraft, is convinced he was the first private citizen in Washington to know when Prime Minister Churchill would arrive in the Capital.

"Slim" was putting a new Howard ship through its paces at a Washington airfield for a group of Navy officials. It was an important test on a new type of plane in which the Navy is greatly interested. He was flying low when suddenly he was urgently signaled to land. When he brought down his plane, he was told to get it off the field immediately.

"What's the trouble?" he asked. "The President's arriving," was the reply.

"I guessed then and there," claims "Slim," "that Churchill was in a plane nearby. Otherwise the President and his party wouldn't have been there. And I was right!"

TWO WINSTON CHURCHILLS

There are now two Winston Churchills in the United States. One is in Washington, and the other is in the little town of Cornish, N. H.

These two men have been confused for the last forty years. The name is exactly the same, and the two men are exact contemporaries.

One is an American, the novelist, author of "Richard Carvel", "The Inside of the Cup", and "The Crisis". This Winston Churchill leads a quiet, retired life, while the other, the visiting Prime Minister, lives a turbulent life, in the midst of the greatest crisis the world has ever known.

FUTURE OF CCC

Nothing got out about it, but the Senate Military Affairs Committee had a hot discussion over abolishing the Civilian Conservation Corps.

The proposal was made by able young GOP Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, outspoken pre-war supporter of the President's foreign policy. Bridges contended that with the country at war, the CCC should be disbanded and the members mobilized for industrial jobs and special assignments, such as guarding public buildings and bridges.

"They are excellently qualified for this kind of duty," argued Bridges. "Also, this would mean a reduction in non-defense spending, about which there has been so much talk but nothing done. I have always considered the CCC one of the best programs undertaken by the New Deal, but with our entrance into the war it has outlived its purpose."

Senator H. H. Schwartz, staunch Wyoming New Dealer, vigorously objected, contending that the CCC provided excellent character-building training for unemployed youth and should be continued.

"Besides," he said, "what you propose would call for specialized training of CCC men. This would place an added burden on the Army."

"Bosh!" exploded Bridges. "Those husky boys already are trained for the type of work I suggest. Many of them have learned vocational trades which equip them for defense industrial jobs, and the others could be mobilized for guard duty with very little training."

FATHER, SONS ARRESTED IN THEFT INVESTIGATION

A father and his thirty-year-old son are being held by Ross County authorities on charges of breaking and entering the residence of Schuyler Slager, their employer, near Yellowbud.

The father, Ross Siders, 68, entered a not guilty plea at his arraignment before Justice of Peace Albert Trego. His son, George, pleaded guilty and both were held for the grand jury under $1,000 bond.

Two other Siders brothers, Pearl, 18, and James, 21, and their brother-in-law, Ernest Garrett, 28, Route 22, Pickaway County, also were being held for investigation.

$50 ASSESSMENT PAID

DAILY HERALD'S CARRIERS HELP BY STAMP SALES

Daily Herald carriers are doing their part for National Defense.

The young Americans who deliver The Herald to its many readers are selling Defense Stamps and Defense Bonds, and if their success during the first two weeks of their effort can be taken as a criterion the youths are doing a mighty good job for Uncle Sam.

Many of the boys have worked up regular deliveries, various customers agreeing to take a quarter's worth or half dollar's worth a week. One carrier sold a $25 Bond, Saturday, this sale marking the highest one of the still young campaign.

Each of the carriers is proud of the badge he exhibits on his coat lapel, tagging him as an official salesman for Uncle Sam's Stamps and Bonds.

The lads are going about their regular duties as efficient carriers, but have taken on the added responsibility of doing all they can to make Uncle Sam's war effort a success.

MOTORIST LOSES BOND

Alfred Hopewell, 31, 206 North 21st Street, Columbus, forfeited a $20 bond for reckless driving on Route 23 south of Circleville Saturday night. He was scheduled to appear in Mayor W. B. Cady's court Sunday night. The arrest was made by the state highway patrol.

NEW NAVY DEPARTMENT RULING OF IMPORTANCE

The Navy Department has recently announced drastic changes in the V-5 Program of the U. S. Naval Reserve. Class V-5 is classification in which candidates for Naval Aviation training are placed.

The educational requirements for Class V-5 require that an applicant have successfully completed two years college work, or half the credits necessary for a degree.

Under the present plan juniors and seniors currently enrolled in recognized colleges or universities may be enlisted in Class V-5 and deferred from call to active duty until they complete their college work, if they so request.

Sophomores currently enrolled in recognized colleges or universities may be enlisted and deferred until the completion of their sophomore year, provided they can present letters from the registrars of their colleges stating that they are currently enrolled in the college and have every reasonable expectation of completing the two-year college requirement, as stated above, by the end of the current school year. They then will not be ordered to active duty until they can produce signed statements from their respective college registrars that the two-year requirement is fulfilled.

We pledge ourselves to this cause

A Statement by

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

We make this pledge publicly to our national government and to the people of the United States:

That we will cooperate unhesitatingly in every effort of authorized government agencies to prevent unwarranted rises in prices of foods.

That we will continue our efforts to reduce the spread between prices paid to the grower and prices charged to the consumers.

That to this end we will continue to do everything in our power to assist the farmers and growers of America in the orderly marketing of their products at the fairest possible prices to them.

That we will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers, or consumers, will cause higher prices.

That we will endeavor to continue to pay our employees the highest wages and to give them the best working conditions in the grocery business generally.

That we will make every effort to continue to sell food at retail at the lowest gross margin of profit in the history of the retail grocery business.

Today we are providing food for our customers at the lowest gross profit rate in the history of the retail grocery business. This means that we have achieved efficiencies in the distribution of food never before attained. More of your food dollar goes for food and less for overhead expenses than ever before. No other great retail business in the United States in any field is operated with such a low cost of distribution.

No one in the food business can control the wholesale price of food. Only the government of the United States has power to do this, and for the protection of our people this power in the government is now a necessary power.

Today, with the nation at war, we believe that no private interest has any rights in conflict with the general public interest.

The armed forces of the United States are today receiving more and better food than ever before in our national history. It is equally important that all of our people working and living behind the lines, men, women and children, shall be better fed and better nourished than ever before in our national history.

JOHN A. HARTFORD, President

It's Patriotic to be Economical

During These Strenuous Times

To this end we shall to the best of our ability strive to keep our Funeral Prices Low and Our Service Satisfactory by using every means of ECONOMY IN OPERATION conducive to our very best judgment.

We urge you too, to practice economy for your sake and for the sake of National Defense.
